

Irish Traveller Musicians

Felix Doran (1915-1972)

Irish Traveller Musicians: A Unique Tradition

Irish traditional music has a huge international following. Across Europe, Asia and America hundreds of thousands of fans listen to touring trad bands, buy the music and try to emulate traditional music greats.

Today, Irish music is a worldwide cultural phenomenon, from Tokyo to Tipperary.

Many of the legends of Irish music are Travellers. Irish music owes much to Traveller musicians, to the Dunnes, Fureys, Dorans, Keenans, Dohertys and Rainey's. The fluent, free-flowing and vibrant style of Travellers has added both swagger and soulfulness to Irish music.

The Irish Chaplaincy in Britain (ICB)

50-52 Camden Square, London, NW1 9XB

020 7482 5528

travellers@irishchaplaincy.org.uk

www.irishchaplaincy.org.uk

Ceartas Sóisialta do Dheoraithe

Photograph courtesy of Na Píobairí Uilleann